Maxim Gorin

Head of Mobile Development
Serbia

Summary

Head of Application Development with 8+ years of experience turning ideas into mobile apps that people love and rely on. I've grown from building apps hands-on (iOS, Android, Flutter) to leading talented teams that deliver financial products at scale.

What sets me apart? I know how to build apps that don't just work, but win users' trust — reliable, secure, and fast, even on the most modest devices. I thrive on taking a vision and translating it into a robust, intuitive product that meets business goals and exceeds user expectations.

I'm passionate about people. I believe that great teams build great products, so I focus on creating an environment where engineers take pride in their work, learn constantly, and grow.

I've led apps that have hit the top charts in their markets and stayed there — not by luck, but by delivering real value. I understand what it takes to build apps that perform and scale in diverse markets, from Latin America to South Asia.

My goal? To keep leading teams that deliver mobile products users love — and to take on more strategic technical leadership roles where I can drive innovation and growth.
